VISIT TO ASHRAYA OLD AGE HOME

on July 12th 2024.

Service

Empathy

Gratitude

It was an emotional visit to the Ashraya Old Age home for the class X students on July 12th 2024.

The inmates included elderly and young women who were abandoned by their families.

One of the inmates a Telugu teacher addressed the students. She asked students to focus on education and understand the importance of values. As an elderly who has been abandoned by the family, she felt it was important for today's generation to love, care, and develop gratitude. She advised children to care for their grandparents, parents, teachers, and one another. She was also happy that students spent time with all the inmates. She thanked all of them and encouraged them to come more often.

Students went around the old age home and spent time with all the inmates. They handed over coconut water bottles to the elderly and the women at the ashram. It was an emotional visit for the students but it created awareness and they learned the values of service, empathy, and gratitude.
